FEDERICA FURBELLI

(Varese, Italy, 1988) is a visual artist based in Mallorca whose practice focuses on psychogeography, exploring dérive, movement, and the relationship between nature, humanity, and landscape. Her work investigates how navigating, walking, and slow travel become artistic and spiritual acts, resisting contemporary immediacy and capturing moments of mindfulness. Nomadism, through relocating the studio to wilder territories, fosters a deep interdependence with the environment and challenges rationalism as the sole mode of knowledge. Her sensory spaces function as offerings that invite presence and a return to what is essential. She has held numerous solo exhibitions, participated in group exhibitions, and completed residencies at Piramidón, Fresco in Madrid, and Konvent0 in Berga, as well as creating murals in Spain and internationally. Her career has been recognized with several first prizes in artistic competitions.
