JOSÉ MARÍA DE AURORA

(Santander, Spain, 1988) is a painter working with the importance of matter and the physical act of painting, profoundly influenced by the purity of lines and movement. His work is an exploration of volume and serene compositions that embody the essence of visual poetry. Having nurtured a deep love for art since a young age, José María de Aurora has ventured into various media, including painting, sculpture, engraving, and dressmaking. His journey as an artist reached a significant milestone when he presented his first painting at the Fundació Tàpies, winning a regional competition.
